THE HON'BLE SRI JUSTICE V.ESWARAIAH

WRIT PETITION No.8444 of 2007

Between:

Nadendla Ravi Kumar.

.. PETITIONER

and

The Station House Officer, and another.

..

RESPONDENTS

ORDER:

It is the case of the petitioner that after six years of marriage of the petitioner with the 2nd respondent, the 2nd respondent appears to have made a complaint against the petitioner and in that connection, the 1st respondent is unnecessarily calling the petitioner to the police station and asking him to sit from morning to evening and interfering with his personal life and liberty and also threatening to settle the matter with the 2nd respondent.

I am of the opinion that insofar as the dispute between the husband and the wife is concerned, nothing wrong in making sincere efforts to settle the disputes between them. But, under the guise of settling dispute, the 1st respondent cannot harass the petitioner calling him to the police station and asking him to sit from morning to evening and cannot threaten him to settle the matter with the 2nd respondent.

Having regard to the facts and circumstances of the case, the writ petition is disposed of directing the 1st respondent not to interfere with the personal life and liberty of the petitioner, without there being any complaint made by the 2nd respondent or any other person alleging that the petitioner committed cognizable offence, and if any such complaint is made and the same is pending, it is open for the 1st respondent to register the case and take appropriate action in accordance with law. There shall be no order as to costs.
